

Assistant or Associate Professor, The Ohio State University

Description

Job Description – Assistant or Associate Professor
The Ohio State University Columbus, OH
Department: Pharmacy | Medicinal Chemistry
The Division of Medicinal Chemistry and Pharmacognosy in the College of Pharmacy at The Ohio State University (<https://pharmacy.osu.edu/medicinal-chemistry-pharmacognosy>) in collaboration with the Ohio State University Comprehensive Cancer Center (CCC) invites applications for a full-time tenure track academic appointment at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor. We are looking for basic scientists with outstanding academic credentials, a strong record of scholarly productivity, and a commitment to cancer-related research. Areas of specialization could include drug discovery, synthetic medicinal chemistry, computational chemistry, screening of small molecules, or chemical biology, with clear relevance to cancer. The successful candidate will join faculty in the College of Pharmacy with broad interests in drug discovery and development, pharmaceuticals, and pharmacology and will be well positioned to collaborate with a wide array of cancer researchers within the OSU CCC and across the University. The Ohio State University is one of the largest public universities with 200+ academic majors, strong programs in graduate education, and significant interdisciplinary interactions between the College of Pharmacy (<https://pharmacy.osu.edu/>) and all other colleges, especially the College of Medicine, College of Veterinary Medicine, the College of Arts and Sciences, and the College of Engineering. This is complemented by an exceptional Comprehensive Cancer Center (<https://cancer.osu.edu/>), which provides the infrastructure and the resources for strong interdisciplinary interactions with a focus on translation, in a collegial and supportive research environment. The CCC shared resources are state of the art and offer access to cutting-edge technologies (<https://cancer.osu.edu/for-cancer-researchers/resources-for-cancer-researchers/shared-resources>). The Ohio State University is located in Columbus, a vibrant, rapidly developing, and affordable city of almost one million, which was recognized by Money Magazine as one of the “6 best big cities” in the US. Competitive start-up packages will be available to a successful candidate to help them develop a dynamic research program. Additional funding is available through competitive, internal funding mechanisms administered by Pelotonia (<https://pelotonia.org/>), a grassroots annual bike ride that has raised over $250 million for cancer research at OSU. Pelotonia also supports new core equipment and select programmatic research efforts. The Ohio State University’s Shared Values include Excellence and Impact, Diversity and Innovation, Inclusion and Equity, Care and Compassion, and Integrity and Respect. Our university community welcomes differences, encourages open-minded exploration and courageous thinking, and upholds freedom of expression. We define diversity broadly and value multiple dimensions of diversity including, but not limited to demographic, religion, country of origin, perspective, ability
